The Julia people live in clans primarily along the trade routes in the southwestern part of Burkina Faso. The fundamental moral principles of the Julia include obedience, honesty & dedication to their people.

The majority of Julia are Sunni Muslim. The rest hold traditional animistic beliefs (such as non-living objects having spirits). Muslim scholars are held in high esteem & are responsible for educating the people in the teachings of the Koran.

Julia religious ideals share similarities with Christianity. The belief in one God who is eternal creator; the Spirit of God who communicates; protecting spirits (or angels); the concept of the sanctuary or holy of holies & the use of parables.
